

TimeGate Studios Selects NetCharts Performance Dashboards

*Award-winning game developer now armed with unparalleled data visibility;
Provides better project management; Insight into customer and gaming activity*

ROCKVILLE, MD – April 13, 2010 - Visual Mining, a leader in dashboard and data visualization solutions that instantly transforms data into actionable information, today announced that TimeGate Studios, a world-class game development studio, selected NetCharts Performance Dashboards \(NCPD\) to provide insight into their engineering projects, development efforts, and customer usage.

“NCPD supplies very powerful functionality, and we would have been hard-pressed to develop the comprehensive analytic and deep data integration functionality it provides,” said Adel Chaveleh, TimeGate President. “We saved time and money by going with NetCharts Performance Dashboards.”

NetCharts Performance Dashboards enables Agile Performance Dashboarding - empowering end users with both the ability to quickly create and deploy dynamic dashboards, and the ability to interact with data however and whenever they need. By unlocking the power of Business Intelligence for end users, NCPD delivers self-sufficient data exploration and analysis for a better understanding of business drivers, resulting in proactive decisions that achieve better business results.

“TimeGate Studios’ use of NCPD is another fantastic example of the broad array of problems NCPD can solve. NCPD provides end users with the ability to visualize, intuitively explore, analyze and properly understand the data in order to drive better business outcomes. We are pleased TimeGate Studios selected NetCharts Performance Dashboards as their enterprise BI dashboard solution,” said Tristan Ziegler, President and CEO of Visual Mining.
